DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 11-16, drawn to an input/output interface circuit comprising a clock generation circuit for generating a clock signal, a data transmission circuit for transmitting data in synchronization with the clock signal, and a data reception circuit for receiving the transmitted data, classified in class 375, subclass 356.
  - II. Claims 18 and 20, drawn to an input/output interface circuit and/or a data transmission device comprising a clock generation circuit including a jitter generator, a first voltage controlled oscillator and a second voltage controlled oscillator for generating a clock signal; and a data transmission circuit for transmitting synchronization with the clock signal, classified in class 375, subclass 371.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the data transmission circuit recited in claims 11 and 13 of Group I includes specific claimed subject matters, such as, a pattern generation circuit and transmission circuitry, however, the data transmission circuit recited in claims 18 and 20 of Group II is broad and does not require the search of the pattern generation circuit and the transmission circuitry. Further, the clock generation circuit recited in claims 18 and 20 of Group II includes specific claimed subject matters, such as, a first voltage controlled oscillator and a second voltage controlled oscillator, however, the clock generating circuit recited in claims 11 and 13 of Group I is broad and does not require the search of the first and second clock controlled oscillators in communication with the jitter generator.

The examiner has required restriction between combination and subcombination inventions. Where applicant elects a subcombination, and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

3. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

4. A telephone call was made to Ms. Christin Montfort on December 03, 2008 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.
